COMPLAINT
GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

8. The above paragraphs are repeated and incorporated herein by reference as if set forth in full.
9. Plaintiff and Defendant, John Burgy, jointly owned a residence located at 375 South Ridley Creek Road, Media, PA. 19063 (hereinafter referred to as "the property") which they bought together in 2002.
10. Sometime in 2011, the parties dissolved their relationship and litigation was initiated by both the plaintiff and Burgy regarding the division of "the property."
11. On December 29, 2011, plaintiff went to "the property" to remove personal items. Plaintiff inadvertently, by mistake, also removed some of Burgy's personal property.
12. Additionally, on December 29, 2011, defendant Burgy went to "the property" to retrieve personal property and noticed certain items that were missing which plaintiff had inadvertently removed. After noticing the missing items, Burgy called The Upper Providence Police and reported a burglary had taken place and that plaintiff was the perpetrator.

13. Shortly thereafter, defendant Officer Moore arrived at “the property” and instructed Burgy that the “the property” was jointly owned and that there was an agreement between Burgy and plaintiff to remove personal items from the residence. Moore also instructed Burgy that since “the property” dispute was a domestic issue, no criminal charges would be sought against the plaintiff. Officer Moore then contacted plaintiff who told Moore that she intended to return Burgy’s personal items on January 5, 2012 at the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas where a hearing was scheduled regarding the litigation over “the property.”
14. On January 11, 2012, defendant Officer Moore met plaintiff at “the property” regarding an alarm code being changed by defendant Burgy without plaintiff’s authorization. Plaintiff also showed Officer Moore that a majority of the furnishings in “the property” had been removed. Moore then advised plaintiff that “this is a civil issue and to contact her attorney in the morning.”
15. On June 20, 2012, Judge Charles B. Burr, of the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas entered an order stating that defendant Burgy shall, within ten days of the above mentioned order, vacate “the property” immediately, return all furniture he wrongfully removed from “the property,” return all personal property to the plaintiff including her diplomas and family photographs, remove all his debris, materials, supplies and equipment which he allowed to accumulate on the “the property” and shall endorse and turn over to the plaintiff a insurance proceeds check in the amount of $35,516.03, so that it would be applied to the mortgage on “the property.” that “the property” would be listed for sale immediately and that plaintiff shall be granted sole access to the property to prepare it for sale.

16. On June 28, 2012, the plaintiff went to the Upper Providence Police Department and gave a copy of the above mentioned, June 20, 2012, court order to defendant Officer Langdale. Plaintiff also told defendant Langdale that defendant Burgy had vacated “the property” with exception of the garage. Plaintiff also told Officer Langdale that she wanted the police to have a copy of the order in the event that an incident occurred between her and Burgy.
17. On July 6, 2012, defendant Burgy called the Upper Providence Police and advised defendant Officer Haines that plaintiff was illegally removing items from “the property.” Defendant Officer Moore then called Burgy and advised him of the court order which evicted him from the property and told Burgy to stay away from the property or he would be arrested. Additionally, Burgy was advised by defendant Officer Haines that the order allowed the plaintiff to clear the property for sale.
18. Additionally on July 6, 2012, defendant Officer Haines was contacted Assistant District Attorney Chris Dirisoto, who advised Officer Haines that any vehicles on the property, regardless of title, could be removed by plaintiff to clear the property for sale and that plaintiff would have to safeguard the vehicles which she had done per the terms of the order. Defendant Officer Haines then called plaintiff and requested that she return the vehicles to the owners and if not possible to safeguard the vehicles until they could be returned.

19. On July 7, 2012, at approximately 10am, defendant Officer Moore observed defendant Burgy removing large amounts of items from “the property.” Burgy was advised by numerous officers, including defendant Officer Moore that Burgy was in violation of the June court order but the officers, including defendant Moore, only suggested to Burgy to stop removing items from “the property” and did not arrest Burgy.
20. Later that same day, at approximately 4pm, defendant Burgy was again illegally removing items from “the property.” Defendant Officer Moore again confronted Burgy but did not arrest Burgy. Officer Moore then notified plaintiff that Burgy had been on “the property” illegally taking items.
21. After being notified that Burgy had been illegally taking items from “the property,” plaintiff went to “the property” at approximately 7pm on July 7, 2012, and began removing defendant Burgy’s personal property, including motor vehicles, and placing said personal property in storage until such time as “the property” was sold and defendant Burgy endorsed and turned over to the plaintiff a insurance proceeds check in the amount of $35,516.03 per the court order mentioned above.
22. On July 7, 2012, plaintiff gave a copy of a Protection from Abuse Order, signed by District Judge Diane Holefelder, to Officer Gary Essaf of the Upper Providence Police listing defendant Burgy as the subject of the stay away order.
23. On July 17, 2012, using his influence and personal relationship with defendant Chief David Montella, defendant Burgy was able to convince defendants Montella, Haines, and Langdale to file an illegal criminal complaint against the plaintiff charging her with Felony Theft by unlawful Taking, Felony Receiving Stolen Property, and Misdemeanor Unauthorized use of Motor Vehicles.

24. On March 5, 2013, the plaintiff was found not guilty of all of the above mentioned charges by Delaware County Court of Common Pleas Judge John Capuzzi.
